WELCOME

One of the most gratifying things about having your own TV show is that you meet and become close friends with some of the most exciting people in the world and it's fun to watch them have their well earned successes. For example, I've known Trini Lopez, Johnny Rivers, Roger Miller, Sonny and Cher, Jackie DeShannon, The Righteous Brothers and many more personally for some time and hope that my association was in some small way responsible for their success.

The important thing is that I knew them when, and let me tell you they are still the fine folks they were before success came their way. For example, The Righteous Brothers made their first TV appearance on our show. They still are the nicest and easiest to get along with people I know.

Roger Miller, introduced on our show, returned recently a big star and just like the first time stayed around after the show and kept breaking us up for an hour.

In our magazine we try to get this across to you as we feature stories on your favorite people. No smut or scandals just an honest appraisal of swinging cats. Maybe we'll write about you someday Tiger—so stay as nice as you are.

MAYBE it's because of his childhood, or perhaps it's his inner sensitivity, but David McCallum cares for people more than most actors. During World War II when he was a boy, he had a chance to observe suffering and it was at this time that he began to want the good things in life . . . not just for himself . . . but for everyone.

He used to love imagining things and playing in the country fields where things were peaceful and easy. This is where he first began to think about being someone else. It may have been to escape the world, but it also had a deeper meaning. David wanted to be able to make the world a little better than before in his own way. He wanted to do something for other people to make them happier and in his heart he knew that acting was his secret weapon for happiness.

Things weren't easy at first. David didn't succeed in his goal right away. He had to work and work hard. But eventually the road became easier. No matter how rough the going got, David always knew that he was making the world a happier place.

Today in Hollywood he's stunned at his success. "I can't understand why all of a sudden people have started writing me and treating me like an idol. I'm just the same man I've always been. But I love it. The kids are great. I'd like to know each of them."

Whoever printed that David is embarrassed by his fan following should be set straight because the young Scottish actor is proud of his popularity. Surprised he is, but not ashamed. After all he loves his fans as much as they love him.

There's little time in David's life for unimportant things. He dislikes standing around the set making small talk with people who have nothing better to do than gossip about others. His free time is spent in his dressing room working with electronic equipment or reading a good book.

His homelife is unlike most Hollywood actors. His adored wife Jill Ireland always comes first in David's thoughts as do his three young sons. Theirs is a wonderful marriage filled with love and understanding.

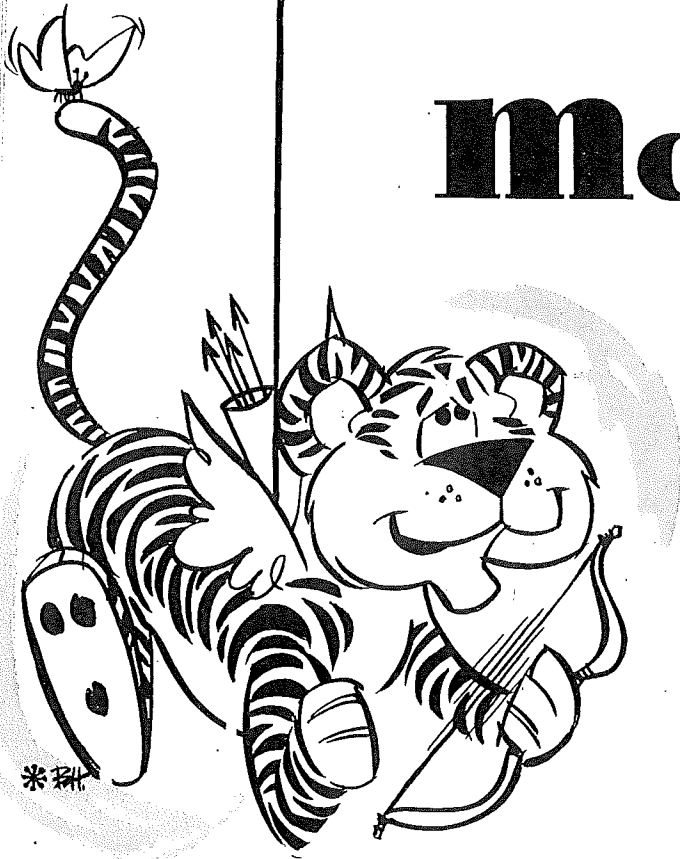

"The fans are so amazing," David reflects. "When we do personal appearances for UNCLE, they astonish me by their politeness as well as their sincerity. They seem to know more about what goes on in my life than I do. These girls are intense, and perhaps a bit over-enthusiastic, but for the most part they're always considerate. It gives me pleasure if I make their lives a bit more interesting than they were before."

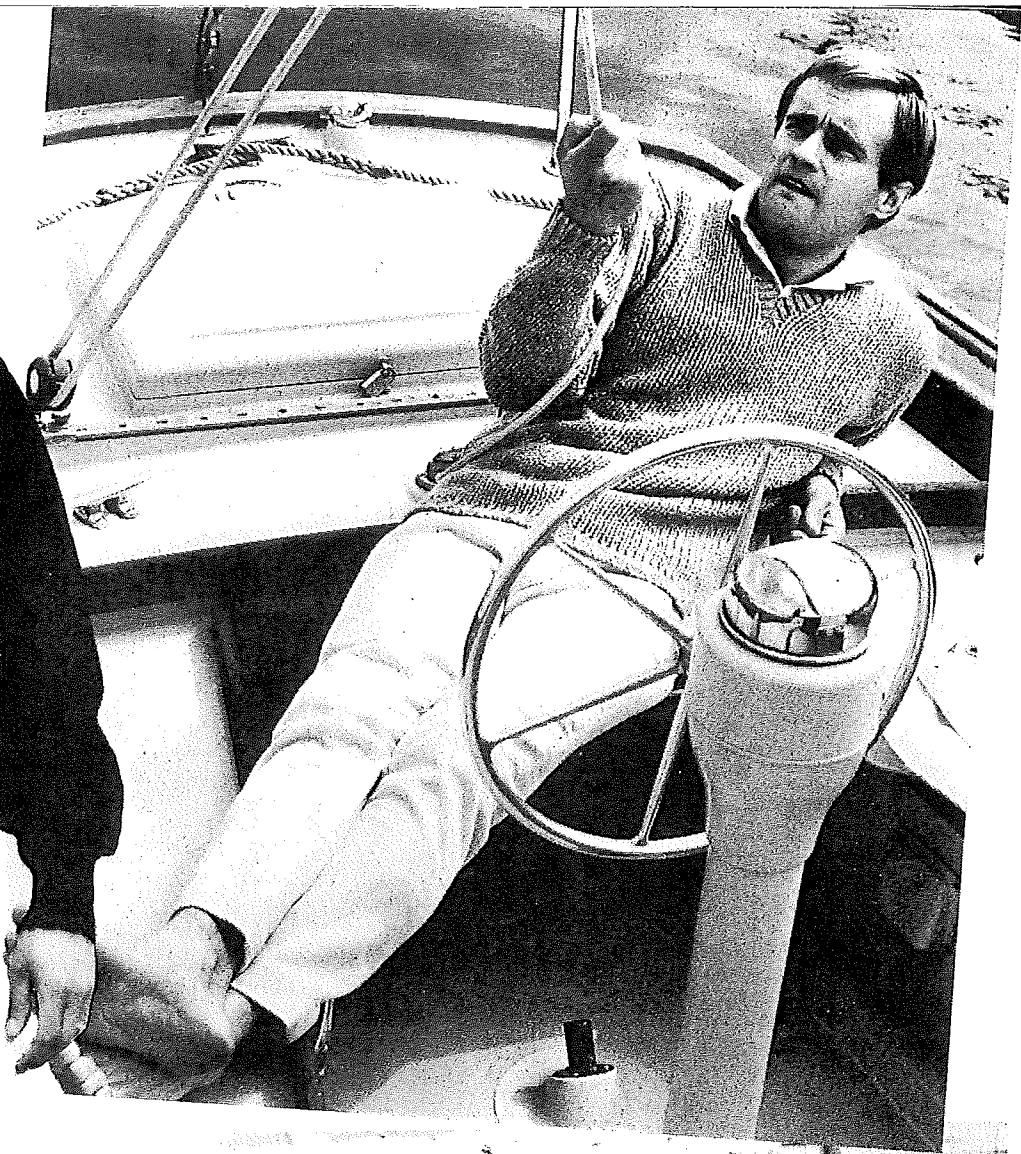

David McCallum fits no molds as do other current favorites. He's more mature, doesn't sing, and is hardly a man about town. But his entire personality seems to reach out for the audience and they respond with love, for how else can they react when the actor is giving all the love he has to them.

david mccallum LOVES YOU

Out of all the actors on the screen, this young star's emotions
reach out and embrace the girls of the world!

ATHLETIC at heart, David is an excellent swimmer. His various feats of action on UNCLE keep him in trim as they involve a lot of leaping, falling, and quick movements. He rarely uses a double on the show unless the trick is too far out to chance.

VERY FEW MOMENTS are spent at leisure with a schedule like David's. But somehow he managed to get a day off to pose for some new shots for still photographer. David does like to sail and also is fanatic about cars. He doesn't care too much for just lying in the sun trying for a tan. He's fair colored and burns easily.

S.M.O.O.C.H. CONQUER ALL

No sooner does the show start when rioting breaks out. Cleverly disguised S.M.O.O.C.H. agents attack, but the British are ready and viciously fighting to a stand-still.
